“ Yesterday would have been my sisters 54th Birthday. Normally we would get together for dinner and some cake and a bit of age teasing. So we did just that again in memory of you. Anne I know on your 1st heavenly birthday you would not want everyone to be sitting around in a somber mood but instead celebrate. Celebrate 53 years of good times and an eternity with our Lord. So I thought I would share a memory I have of you.

I recall when you graduated nursing school. It was a fairly small event in comparison to say a university or High School graduation. All the graduates were on a stage and waiting for their names to be called to receive their diplomas a typical graduation of sorts. As each one would receive their diplomas everyone in the audience seemed kinda bored, oh i am sure they were very proud of each but non the less they just seemed bored. Oh sure they would applaud but that was about it. Now I was really proud of you Anne and being the young, cause I never get old 😎 person that I am, was was like we need to liven this thing up a bit. Get the crowd into it so to speak. Soooo... when they called your name and you got you diploma, again the normal clap and such but as things began to quiet down. I just had to holler, in the loudest voice I could come up with, after all I was kinda far back and those who know me well know I could not pass this opportunity up, I had to embarrass my big sister. I hollered "THATS MY SISTER YA ALL. YEA!! COME ON!!!" I could see the red in your face from all those rows back and I was like "yea gotchya Anne" oh and of course I did get the strange look of "whose this guy and what has he been drinking?" But from then on out though you and me got the crowd going for the rest of the graduates. It was that day, Anne you began your journey to make a difference in this world and I think many here would agree that you did just that and I could not and are still so proud of you. Happy Birthday Anne. I miss ya.

“ Anne was my best friend and my favorite nurse. She made me laugh and smile every day! She would come into my hospital room every night and dance and sing to my 1970's music they we would eat her favorite "sugar free Werthers" caramel candies! Even when I came home, she continued our friendship. My life is blessed to have had her in it, but now there is a huge hole in my heart. I will plant a beautiful rose bush in her honor. She always wanted to be a mermaid so I will make a mermaid of her on a stepping stone for the garden. Anne you will live on and never be forgotten. Me and George love you dearly.

“ Anne was so full of life and always open to friendship. We met in nursing school and bonded over the similar natures of our teenagers during our carpooling to clinicals. So many favorite memories of our friendship... Our trip to San Jose to see Tina Turner was a standout - so fun. We spent time in San Francisco, Alcatraz and the Winchester House. Being around Anne was awesome. She will be missed by her many friends. I was so lucky to be counted among them. My heart goes out to her family but especially to Bri and Brett. Anne was so thrilled to be a grandma and they are missing out on knowing this beautiful spirit. Condolences to you.

I went to college with Anne and we were sorority sisters. I remember dancing the Cotton Eyed Joe with Anne at one of the local pubs. She was the one that taught me how to do the Cotton Eyed Joe. I always remember her when I dance this dance. She did have a beautiful personality, spirit and smile. I haven't seen her for years, but I will never forget her. I would like to send a memorial gift. My condolences go out to the family!
