“ I am heartbroken at the news of Kay's passing. I so enjoyed knowing Kay during her high school years, when she was actively involved in several clubs I led (I was school librarian), Chocolate Book Club and Knit Wits (knitting and crochet). Kay was bright, talented, kind, and funny. We were both avid Harry Potter fans, and she enthusiastically participated in Holidays at Hogwarts events I held various years, and won a prize in our costume contest. Another event she supported and contributed to was our Poem in Your Pocket, where she got up to the podium and read a poem to share. Her talent at crochet and drawing was remarkable. I want to share photos of Kay and of her creations, so I'll post them here. Sending love and my deepest condolences to her family and friends.

“ I had the distinct pleasure of knowing Whiterose (Kay) through video games for well over 2 years. I was deeply saddened that we had lost one of our own, a fun loving, generous and compassionate gamer whom was a valued member of my Community, but more importantly, a dear friend whom made a positive difference in the world around her. May you rest in peace Whiterose!

My sincerest condolences to the family, she will be dearly missed.

Given her unrelenting support of my mission to pay it forward through video games focused on Children's Hospital charities, I have dedicated this year's campaign benefiting sick kids of St. Jude in Whiterose's honor and memory. Additionally, I have personally donated so that all kids are given the chance at life!

Lisa Weber-Lollar - April 28, 2021 at 03:35 PM

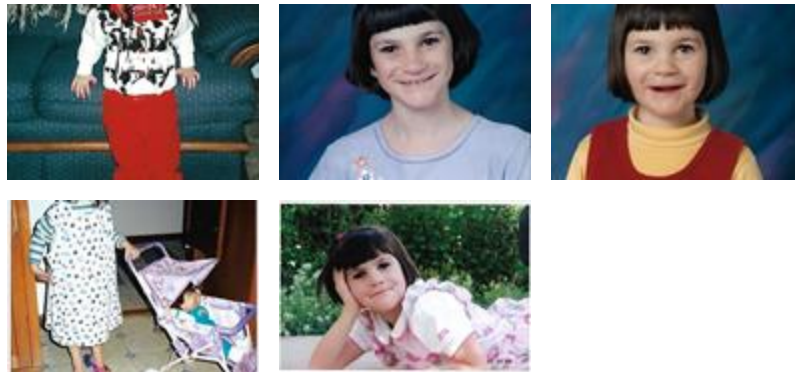

I used to sing the "Bushel and a Peck" song to Lisa when she was little and then to Arnetta when she was young then I'd give them little pecks on their cheek, It would make them laugh.

“ While I didn't have Arnetta as a student at Timnath, I had many sweet interactions with her at Timnath outside, on the playground, in the cafeteria, and just around and about at that special place when she was very young. I remember her being very kind and caring, and I loved her smile. I was so saddened to hear of this accident and my heart aches for everyone in her family because her angelic personality and artistic talent was such a beautiful part of our community. Heaven has a very precious angel now.

I loved having Arnetta in kindergarten at Timnath. Her smile and tender heart made her very special. My heart breaks with yours, Marilyn. It is so difficult to lose your child. I pray for God's comfort for your family during these difficult days.
