How to know our last visit would be the very last. My heart is heavy knowing you are no longer here. However, peace is with me knowing you will never have another worry again. We were blessed being able to share the times we had. You loved with your all and that kind generous heart is what stood out always. You did some crazy stuff... that is for sure. Just know mijo, even far away from us, no matter what... you were always loved! Until we meet again, love you my Angel!
