“ Dear Diane and Kalyn and Doris' other daughter whose name I do not know,

I met your mother and father (grandparents) several times through a program with Doris' church. Three of us would visit with them while we had tea. They were a lovely couple who obviously still cared very much for each other. We were happy to go back more than once because they were so easy to be around.

Doris would speak fondly of her daughters and granddaughter while obviously taking much pride in their accomplishments. It was very clear how much you all meant to her.

It was always a pleasure to visit with her as she had interesting tales to tell about her earlier life in Fort Collins.

She was a very special lady. I know you all will miss her greatly.
