“ Gladys was the second neighbor I met in Dean Acres when I moved here 20 years ago.. We were talking by our mailboxes and she invited me to join her exercise group. For many years then I went to her house every morning and did weights, yoga and shared jokes and gossip.with Gladys, Eileen and Fran. Her friendly invite meant so much to me as did our friendship over the years. We went shopping together for clothes and plants. We shared a love of gardening and shared plants and talked tomatoes, weeds, roses and birds.

I found out how honest and straightforward. Gladys can be when the topic of Swedish Rye Bread. I told her I loved to make it and I would bring her a sample.The bread I make is flavored with orange zest, fennel and anise. Next time I saw her she said something like, "I did not like that bread! So many strong flavors, nothing like what I make" and "that's not Swedish Rye Bread"
You usually knew how Gladys felt.

I am planting a Morden Sunrise rose in Gladys' memory. I will always enjoy my memories of her and miss her very much.
