“ 31 Years GIGI that I have had you as an adopted grandma who was so devoted to her family, God, and Jesus Christ. When I had the darkest hours of my life. I would come into your room and I give you my hand and climbed onto your bed as you caressed my hair and head and told me "It will be OK". You would also tell me "Give all your hurt and grief to the Lord and he will take it all away for you" We prayed as we cried together and being held by you as your adopted grandchild, every word you said to me over the years I have always taken to heart and you helped the tears go away. I will never forget the night that I needed to say my "I will see you later in Heaven" words, you grabbed my necklace and looked at me while I caressed your head and said everything you have done for me and your adopted grandchildren will never be forgotten. Your last words to me as they will be etched into my heart forever were "You are so Beautiful" and you didn't let go of me. You will be so dearly missed by my little family who had the honor to know you and the wisdom that you passed on to all of us. It is never ever a goodbye, It is I will see you when the Good Lord is ready for me and then when I am finished with my task on this earth I will see you again. I have some living to do with my girls first. When I am ready I hope you take my hand as you are my ANGEL sent from above. We love and cherish you and you will always have a place in our hearts that you left us with to do the Lord's work while we are on earth. You will be dearly missed and so glad you are with your husband as you told me you were ready to see him. We love you and we will miss you, but when I think of you I smile as you lead such a wonderful life. You were given to me by God and we will always carry you with us in our hearts <3

Love always and forever,

Brandi Herbst, Brittney Kabasta, and of course Courtney Kabasta.
