“ I remember Ken when he first moved into the Good Shepherd group home in 1987. I spent over 11 years with he as my friend and had a great respect for his father. Ken loved to be the center of attention, clowning around with his peers and being a great help to the staff. I unfortunately lost touch with he and his family after a few years after I stopped working there, but will always remember the Halloween and Christmas parties, Ken's love of vaccuuming, and his distaste for getting his face shaved. God Bless Ken for giving me 11 wonderful years of friendship and love. My condolences to his family.
