“ Louise and I lived across the street from each other from 1965 until 2008. After my Husband's death I moved across town, but we still stayed in touch. I continued to visit her several times a year. Each time I brought her at least 4 Danielle Steel books (an author we both enjoying reading). She was a delightful lady and I will certainly miss our visits. In August I called her phone and got no answer, I then went to her home and of course no one was there. I am so sorry that I did not know what had happened to her and of course no one notified me since they did not know about me. I am glad she was at Columbine during her last days. We had discussed the best place to get good care if she was unable to stay in her own home. I had recommended Columbine West since it was a facility I had helped design and build and had worked for the company for 35years. A beautiful and dear lady and I will cherish the memories of our time together.

Sincerely, Jean Niedringhaus, RN
