“ In honor of our brother Marty and his spirit of seeing all people and being kind and patient and engaged in their lives, I along with another one of his sisters and with support from his brothers and other sister were part of a nearly week long Marty “Bee” Encouraged memorial voyage from Washington, Oregon, Northern California and back. We left, gave, and released messages in small bottles with words of encouragement and kindness. We had a chance to speak with many people about Marty, hugged, cried, and marveled in his special calling. Marty loved where he lived in Bellvue and lived there for decades yet his life and love - rooted in agape love - for his fellow humans meant his influence reached far beyond Bellvue. He was often chided for his propensity - like my grandfather Steve Belarde and my mom - to talk to everyone he met. He did so because he cared for people. He was neither insular nor exclusionary. So this memorial journey embodied for me Marty’s magical energy and gift for meeting people where they are in the world. One of our last calls, I discussed my retirement planning and I asked him about his - and, he said: I love what I do and I never plan to retire. My brother lived the life that fed his soul no matter the challenges or valleys. His work with the 🐝 bees was a shared love - and I hope to carry his messages in the bottle to many more people and his support for the bees. Love is bigger than all things and all of us. Practice Marty’s compassion and patience is something each of us can do to carry on his legacy.

“ Marty was just absolutely one of the very very best...genuine, kind, giving of time to help anyone, caring...he was the real deal. His love for the Lord was evident to everyone. The world is a better place for Marty having lived, loved, and served the Lord during his time here. He lived for heaven. He will be missed here on earth. With love and admiration...Ron and Lynn Lauterbach

“ Marty and Althea were wonderful and caring people! Marty's love of the Lord was so evident in the way he lived his life and served God in each moment. Memories of coming to Bellevue and visiting with Marty and Althea and observing Marty's love for his bees. He will be missed greatly not only by his family and his friends but by the church there at Pleasant Valley. See you on the other side. ❤️❤️
