

Raymond J. Dadamo

October 29, 1950 - January 27, 2013

Raymond J. Dadamo, 62, of Fort Collins, died January 27, 2013 at the Medical Center of the Rockies. Mr. Dadamo was born October 29, 1950 in Hoboken, New Jersey to John and Rose Dadamo. Raymond lived in Fort Collins for thirty years. He was a Master Locksmith for Tri –City Security, which he owned and operated for thirty years. He was a member and teacher for ALOA Associated Locksmiths of America. Survivors include his wife, Tina "Woodcox" Dadamo; sons, Michael Oman of Loveland, Dan Oman of Fort Collins; and brother, John Dadamo, Jr. of Brick, New Jersey. Preceding Raymond in death are his parents. A Celebration of Raymond's Life will be held at the home of Raymond and Tina Dadamo, 1250 S. Summit View on Saturday at 11:00 a.m.

Tribute Wall

SG

“ Ray taught me everything worth knowing about locksmithing and life. It has been a while since I last talked to him but I will treasure the time I had in his company. Condolences to Tina and the gang at Tri City Security. We have all lost a great friend and mentor.

Scott P Graves - February 01, 2013 at 12:00 AM