“ I will miss you Bro! Our lives were intertwined starting in 2nd grade. From our run-ins with Sister Angelica, to going to college together, from our radio days to getting kicked out of the state of Indiana, you were always part of what made life fun. We were indeed "twin sons of different mothers".

“ If family clans still had court jester-magicians, those self-deprecating individuals who imparted life knowledge and kept us from taking ourselves too seriously, Bob would have been ours.

“ For the last several years I was Dir. of Mfg. for RealD. I worked with Bob on one of our products, allowing me to visit him weekly. It was always an enjoyment. He was always in a good mood and was laughing at something. I am very sorry for your loss. Unfortunately, I cannot make the service, but I will offer my prayers for him at Mass this weekend. I will miss him. Thomas Boysen
